REENGINEERING FINANCE & IMPACT

STEERING CAPITAL TOWARDS SOLUTIONS - FIRST INVESTMENTS

We are entering a pivotal moment. A moment that calls for reflection, imagination, and bold redesign of how capital works. Today's financial system stands at the threshold of a profound opportunity: to re-engineer the mechanisms that drive finance toward meaningful, measurable impact.

This theme explores how capital can be intentionally structured, allocated, and governed so that real-world solutions become the central driver of investment strategy. The debate is no longer about "impact first" versus "finance first." Instead, it is about empowering institutional investors and asset owners to reshape capital flows so that solutions, not limitations, steer investment decisions. It is an invitation to rethink what is possible when finance is redesigned for purpose, resilience, and transformative impact.

CAPITAL ROOTED IN THE REAL ECONOMY & SYSTEMS TRANSFORMATION

As geopolitical shifts, and deglobalisation reshape the investment landscape, institutional investors are being pushed to reconnect capital with its real-economy function. This theme explores how finance can drive structural transformation across energy, healthcare, biodiversity, supply chains, and local communities. Sessions under this theme examine systems-change investing, how to influence entire value chains, and how to lower the rising costs of sustainability through technology, collaboration, and smarter incentives. The focus is on deploying capital where it materially shifts economic systems while keeping solutions practical, investable, and scalable.

MODERNISING THE FINANCIAL TOOLKIT FOR INNOVATION, LIQUIDITY & RISK ARCHITECTURE

To meet global transition needs, institutional investors must go beyond traditional structures. This theme highlights the innovative financing models reshaping impact capital markets from securitisation and blended finance to outcomes-based contracts, fund-of-funds platforms, and public-private instruments. The theme also addresses one of the industry's most urgent challenges: liquidity. With IPO windows stalled, valuations distorted by AI, and private markets overweight in investor portfolios, new solutions such as secondaries, structured exits, buy-backs, and even the return of SPACs are redefining how impact strategies scale. The sessions explore how investors can mobilise more capital, de-risk unfamiliar markets (including emerging markets), and maintain flexibility in an increasingly constrained environment.

STEWARDSHIP, INFLUENCE, & ACCOUNTABILITY

Regulatory rollbacks, political polarisation, and diluted reporting frameworks are shifting responsibility back onto investors. Stewardship has become a strategic lever for long-term value creation and systemic risk mitigation. This theme focuses on how institutions can exercise meaningful influence in listed markets, navigate exclusion policies with nuance, engage corporates in transition pathways, and uphold accountability even as regulatory standards soften. It also explores how to streamline reporting, avoid greenhushing, and align stewardship with beneficiary expectations while ensuring that oversight remains effective, not burdensome.

NEXT WAVE OF CAPITAL FROM FAMILIES, FAITH, AND FOUNDATIONS

The largest wealth transfer in modern history is reshaping who allocates capital and how. New LPs such as next-gen families, faith-based organisations, and capital from different regions are prioritising purpose, transparency, and real-world solutions. Yet many still face barriers: complexity, unclear pathways, inadequate products, and the misperception that impact requires sacrificing returns. This theme explores how institutions can guide new allocators into credible, scalable impact opportunities through education, accessible product design, simplified measurement, revenue-based impact metrics, and solutions-first narratives. It also covers how to design investment vehicles that are intuitive, liquid, and aligned with intergenerational expectations.

Executive Investor Panel

Plenary

The maturity curve: expanding impact portfolios from pilots to strategic investment

THE IMPACT STAGE

Pension funds and institutional investors' impact allocations are progressing along a clear maturity curve that is evolving beyond pilot initiatives and niche strategies toward more integrated, portfolio-wide approaches. This session will explore how leading institutional asset owners are approaching the next stage of impact investing, integrating impact objectives across asset classes, and diversifying portfolios while maintaining fiduciary discipline, competitive returns, and long-term portfolio resilience.

Speakers:

- Evalinde Eelens, Executive Board Member, Pensioenfonds Particuliere Beveiliging; Board Member, Stichting Pensioenfonds voor de Architectenbureaus; Member of the Supervisory Board, Stichting Pensioenfonds Robeco & PMT
- Gabriëlle Krapels, Chief Policy Officer, PGGM
- Søren Peter Andreasen, Deputy Chief Executive Officer, Impact Fund Denmark
- Claudia Kruse, Chief Sustainability and Strategy Officer, APG Asset Management

Moderator: Karlijn van Lierop, Head of Impact Investing, Achmea Investment Management

11:30 -11:45

Thought leadership talk

Plenary

Europe's strategic opportunity

THE IMPACT STAGE

Europe excels in early-stage innovation but struggles to scale. This session covers the deep-tech gap, the capital scarcity in growth equity, and why the next decade of climate, resilience, and industrial technologies requires longer time horizons than traditional venture. Investors map which technologies Europe should scale domestically vs import from Asia and the U.S., and the role of state-backed funds.

Speaker: Alfred Slager, Chair Investment Committee, ABP Pension Fund; Professor, Vrije Universiteit Amsterdam; Author

11:45-12:00

Keynote Speech

Plenary

Natural capital at institutional scale: beyond pilot projects

THE IMPACT STAGE

While biodiversity ranks high on asset owners' commitment lists, scalable investment products remain scarce. LPs and GPs discuss what biodiversity strategies can absorb large capital flows today, how to measure nature impact credibly, and what pipeline-building mechanisms (blended finance, securitisation, catalytic capital) are needed to unlock future scalability.

Speaker: Erwann Le Ligné, Managing Partner, Co-Head of Eurazeo Planetary Boundaries Fund

12:00 - 13:00

Lunch

13:00 -14:00

Pre-scheduled meetings required (Asset owners & Fund managers only)
InvestorConnect session #1

Breakout 1A

THE IMPACT STAGE

This dynamic session, consisting of 15-minute speed meetings, offers asset owners an efficient and focused way to explore a curated selection of high-quality institutional impact strategies. It provides a unique opportunity to explore the current impact market, uncover new strategies, ask in-depth questions, and foster meaningful connections with fellow asset owners. Asset owners can arrange personalised meetings based on their individual preferences by contacting the Phenix Capital Group team.

Round-table discussion
Stewardship in a fragmented world

Breakout 1B

IMPACT TOOLBOX

As regulatory ambition weakens and corporate power structures shift, stewardship becomes a main lever for impact. This session explores modern engagement strategies, industry-wide stewardship themes, and how investors can shape corporate behaviour even when divestment is not an option.

Speakers:

- Jamie Broderick, Deputy Chair, Impact Investing Institute
- Marta Jankovic, Head of Sustainability, Stafford Capital Partners
- Hanna Lukacs, Sustainable Investing Specialist and Private Markets Associate, ING Investment Office

Moderator: Grace Castillo, Founder & Chief Executive Officer, Giffitid

14:30 -15:15

Success stories
Blended structures that work for institutional investors

Breakout 2A

THE IMPACT STAGE

Blended finance has become a political priority, but pension funds often find structures unusable. This session maps what works, what doesn't, and what standardisation is needed to unlock institutional participation. Case studies will be shared, MDB/DFI models co-designed with private capital.

Speakers:

- Jesse Bayer, Head of Innovative Finance for Mobilisation, British International Investment
- Ralitsa Rizvanolli, Head of Investments, Sarona Asset Management
- Timothée Jaulin, Head of Responsible Investment Development & Advocacy, Amundi
- Nic Wessemius, Managing Director, FMO Investment Management
- Aarno Keijzer, Investment Lead, Aqua for All
- Lars Boggild, Portfolio Manager, Rally Assets

Moderator: Ashish Kumar, Partner Advisor, Asset Owners Africa

Revenue-based impact metrics: understanding the delta

IMPACT TOOLBOX | Sub 1

Breakout 2B

Impact reporting is shifting from outputs to “delta” targeting the proportion of revenue derived from solutions. This session breaks down revenue parsing, solution classification, and how to determine whether impact is core, marginal, or incidental to a business model. Includes practical frameworks for LPs assessing GPs.

Speakers:

- Marc Debois, Founder, FO-Next
- Keimpe Keuning, Principal, LGT Capital Partners
- Bruno Besek, Responsible Investment Strategist, NN Group
- Stefan Wilhelm, Director Social Innovation / Head of LATAM & Africa, Bayer Foundation

Moderator: Prachi Modi, Head of Investor Relations and Programming, Phenix Capital Group

Panel discussion

Back to the Future: Assessing Impact Potential Through a Systems Lens

Breakout 2C

INNOVATION LAB

As impact investing matures, LPs are being increasingly seeking to assess a manager’s potential to contribute to systems-level change. This panel explores how LPs can better assess that potential – both pre-investment and on an ongoing basis – in ways that are both practical but also taking into account the complexities and uncertainties of systems change. Drawing on perspectives from fund-of-funds, family offices, and institutional asset owners, the discussion will explore how systems thinking is showing up in manager selection, due diligence, and ongoing stewardship today – and where practices still need to evolve.

Speakers:

- Paula Luff, Director of Sustainability Research and Engagement, DSC Meridian Capital
- Dr. Michael Brandkamp, Managing Partner and Founder, European Circular Bioeconomy Fund
- Jennifer Pryce, President & Chief Executive Officer, Calvert Impact
- Francesco Gerli, Impact & Philanthropy Specialist, Partners for Change Family Office

Moderator: Matt Ripley, Director, Impact Frontiers

Making biodiversity investible for institutional investors

Breakout 3A

THE IMPACT STAGE

Biodiversity is emerging as the next frontier in sustainable finance, yet it remains far harder to fit into traditional risk/return models than climate. This panel discussion explores how regenerative agriculture, forestry, and nature restoration can become investible at scale while avoiding double counting and greenwashing.

Speakers:

- Cedric Scholl, Fiduciary Manager Responsible Investment, APG Asset Management
- Isobel Edwards, Global Head of Sustainable and Impact Fixed Income Research, Goldman Sachs Asset Management
- Eduardo Mufarej, Co-Chief Investment Officer, Just Climate
- Daan Spaargaren, Senior Responsible Investment Strategist, PME Pensioenfond
- Robert-Alexandre Poujade, Biodiversity Lead, BNP Paribas Asset Management
- Saverio Zefelippo, Principal, Sustainability & Strategy, Ambienta

Moderator: Anita de Horde, Executive Director, Finance for Biodiversity

Panel discussion

The AI paradox

Breakout 3B

IMPACT TOOLBOX

AI improves efficiency and transparency but also warps valuations and raises ethical concerns around data use. Investors discuss where AI creates real impact (climate modelling, diagnostics, efficiency) vs where it inflates bubbles or risks exploitation. Includes debate on how AI reshapes perceived value in private markets.

Speakers:

- Robert Schultz, Partner, Capricorn Investment Group
- Karin Bouwmeester, Sustainability and Portfolio Management Lead, Private Equity, PGGM
- Greg Wasserman, Head of Private Climate Investing, Wellington Management
- Lila Preston, Co-Head of Growth Equity at Generation Investment Management
- Henk de Jong, Co-Founder & Managing Partner, ValueAI Institute

Moderator: Trisha Taneja, Investor Strategies Programme Director, The Institutional Investors Group on Climate Change (IIGCC)

Presentation & roundtable

Introduction to maritime infrastructure and sustainable investment

Breakout 3C

EURAZEO
Room Sub 6

Hosted by Eurazeo, this breakout session explores asset-based financing solutions for the maritime sector, highlighting alternative investment opportunities tied to real assets such as vessels and offshore wind infrastructure. With a strong focus on ESG principles and decarbonization, the session addresses how targeted capital deployment can support the industry's transition toward net-zero emissions by 2050 while delivering resilient, long-term returns for investors.

Speaker: Guillaume Branco, Managing Director- Asset-based Finance, Eurazeo

Global forces, local impact: macro dynamics and close to home investing

Global macro forces such as currency movements, sovereign debt cycles, and central bank policy, shape where capital flows and how risk shows up, even in investments made "close to home." This panel explores how investors can align macro awareness with place-based strategies in climate adaptation, affordable housing, healthcare, infrastructure, and economic inclusion. Speakers examine beneficiary-focused models, private credit, blended finance structures, and emerging data showing that locally anchored impact investing can deliver resilience and return without increasing risk.

Speakers:

Untapped impact, mispriced risk, and the next growth cycle

THE IMPACT STAGE

With global populations rising, IPO markets reopening in EMs, and infrastructure needs exploding, investors explore how emerging markets can generate both financial returns and impact. We also cover the untapped impact of energy transition investments in Central and Eastern Europe (CEE) alongside opportunities of private debt & credit in Africa, climate tech in India, selective private equity in LatAm, and data-driven arguments debunking perceived EM risk. We also compare the next growth cycle in different geographical opportunities.

Speakers:

- Kaisa Alavuotunki, Chief Sustainability Officer, FinnFund
- Diana Wesselius, Managing Director Multi-Asset Impact Investing, Anthos Fund & Asset Management
- Matej Lednický, Head of Transaction Management Infrastructure, KGAL Investment Management

14:10-14:55 Financing Natural Capital: Forestry, Biodiversity & Carbon

Breakout 6A

THE IMPACT STAGE

Scaling nature-based solutions requires capital structures aligned with the long-term biological cycles of forests and ecosystems. This session explores how investment funds and innovative financing vehicles approaches are mobilizing institutional capital into sustainable forestry, afforestation, biodiversity restoration, and regenerative land use. Panelists will discuss how investors and impact managers are structuring scalable strategies that deliver measurable climate and biodiversity outcomes while supporting resilient economies. Through practical examples - from forestry and land-use funds to landscape initiatives - the discussion will highlight how finance can accelerate the transition toward a nature-positive and climate-resilient economy.

Speakers:

- Matt Robinson, Senior Finance Adviser, Landscape Finance Lab
- Kostis Tselenis, Managing Partner, Swiss Impact Office
- Arnaud Filhol, Co-Founder & Co-CEO, France Valley
- Philippe Crete, Managing Director, Fondation Gestion d'Actifs
